

STRINGS EXCHANGE – THEATER ST PÖLTEN MEETS HOUT BAY MUSIC PROGRAM

Cape Town, 27 January, 2010: Daily Report / Day 7

Text: Tristan Feichtner, Photos: Maria Probst

Today we were allowed to sleep until one o'clock. In the afternoon, our bus driver took us to the Cape of Good Hope. We drove two hours and stopped two times for making photos of Hout Bay. It was so beautiful!

When we arrived there, we had to go twenty minutes to the Cape Point. During this walk we made photos and I saw lovely animals. At the Cape Point we could see the Indian and the Atlantic Ocean. The view was fantastic!

We stayed about fifteen minutes there and looked at the beautiful sea. After that we walked one hour to the Cape of Good Hope. On the way, we saw rodents (Dassies), who were eating grass. They were very cute! When we were back in the bus, we had lunch: Bread, vegetables, etc.

While we were sitting in our bus, we saw some of the fabulous baboons, sitting on the street.

Susanne told us, that we will meet the kids from Hout Bay in Simon's Town. We were going to swim with some of the penguins there. I loved it, because the penguins were swimming beside me and it was unique. In Austria I would never be able to do this. The sea was very very cold. After two hours we went to a restaurant in the harbour. There we had fish and chips and most of us ordered hot chocolate to drink. When we went back to our apartment most of us already slept in the van.

I think the day was fantastic! We could see more from South Africa. I love the ocean! I think the best thing from the day, was that we could see some penguins and we were so near to them. In Vienna I only can see them in the zoo, but here we could see how they really live.

Tristan